A. Setting type="number" in the input tag
Setting min and max values in the input tag
<input id="input1" min="0" max="10">

B. checkValidity()

```
function checkFunction() { var inputObj = document.getElementById("input1")
  if (inputObj.checkValidity() == False) { alert("invalid input")
  }
}
```

C. The :invalid selector can be used input:invalid {background-color:pink;}

D. The label element connects a text label to the input element it is associated with